

FIG. 1

FIG. 2 is a block diagram of a live event voting system 200. The system includes a live event authoring system 205, a live event vote server 210, a voter's television 230, and a client computer 240. The live event authoring system 205 includes a live event authoring system user interface 220 and a live event authoring system 205. The live event authoring system 205 is connected to the live event vote server 210 via a network 250. The live event vote server 210 includes a survey and demographic questions module 215, a high-density interactive voting module 265, and a vote results module 270. The voter's television 230 includes a voting interface 235 and a high-density interactive voting system voter interface 255. The client computer 240 includes a voter input module 260. The system also includes a broadcast studios 225 and a television transmission 230. The system is shown in a block diagram format with various components and their interconnections.

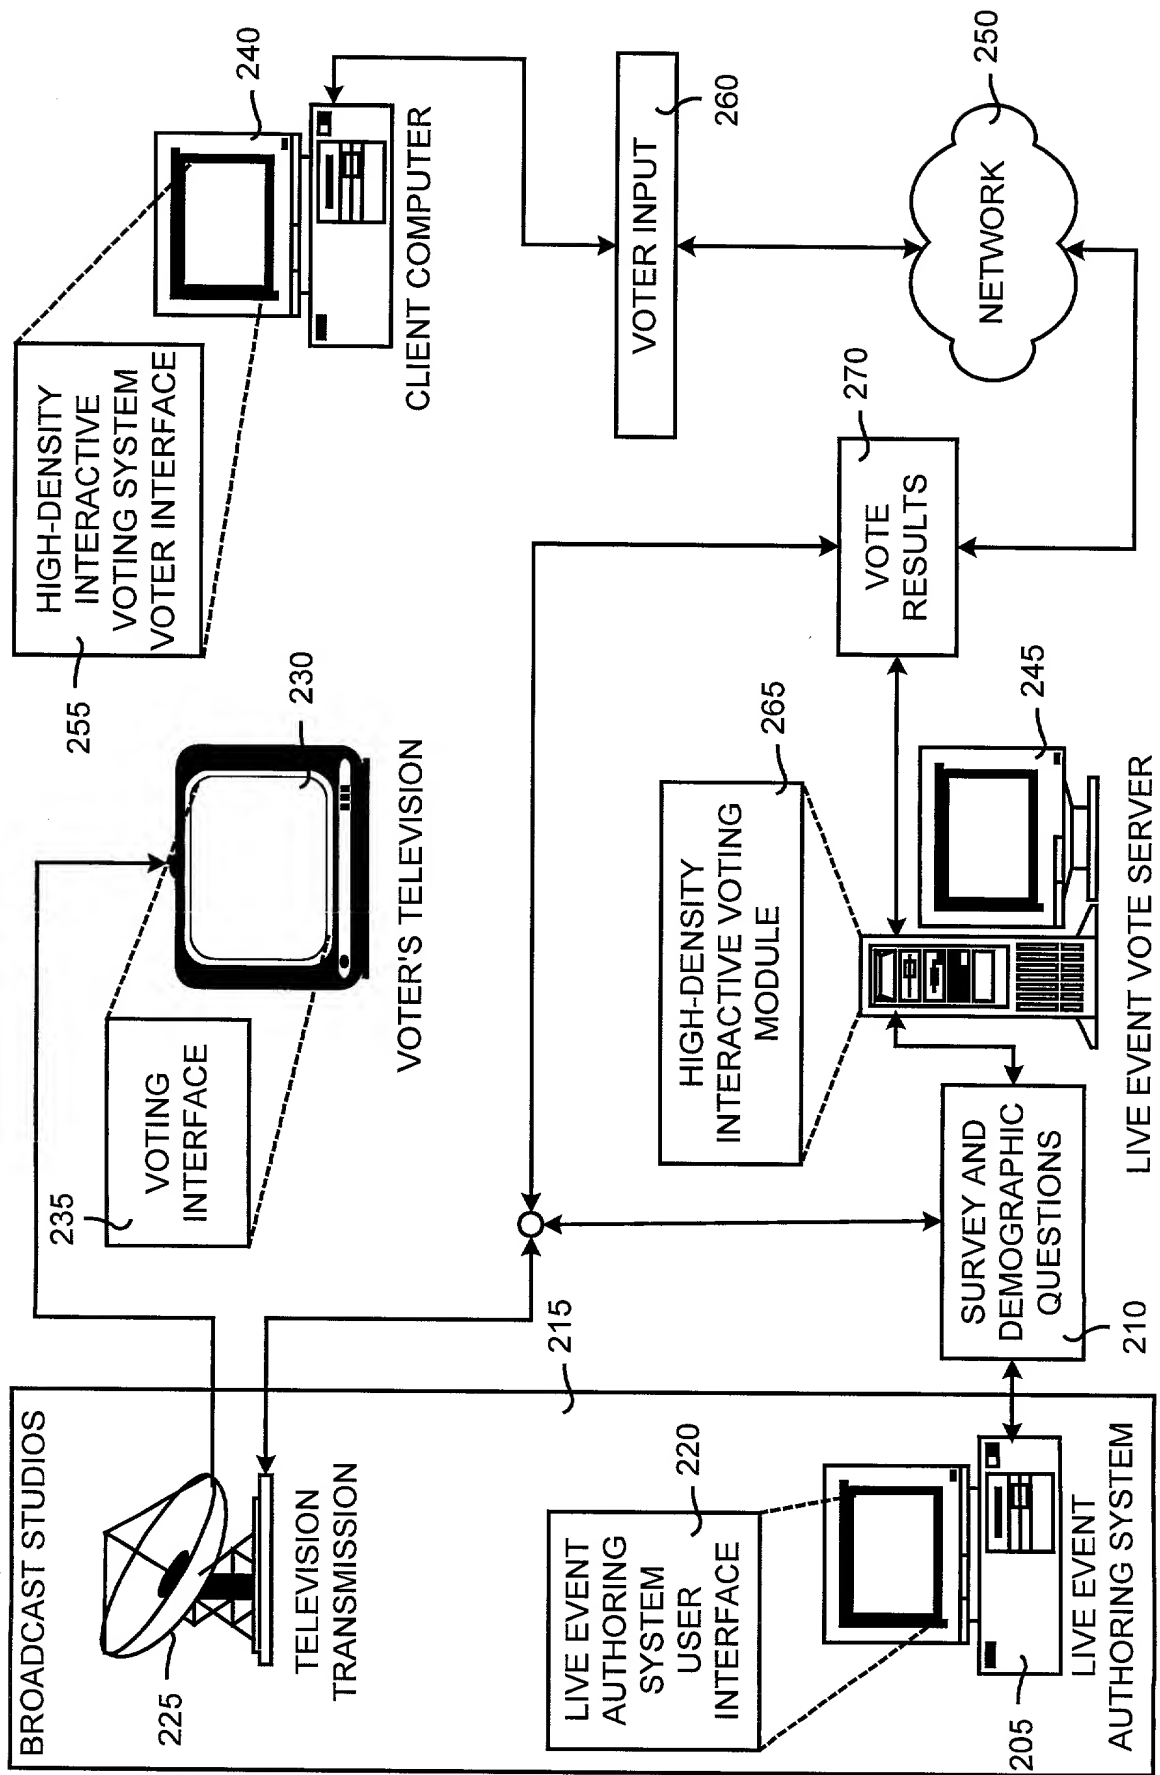

FIG. 2

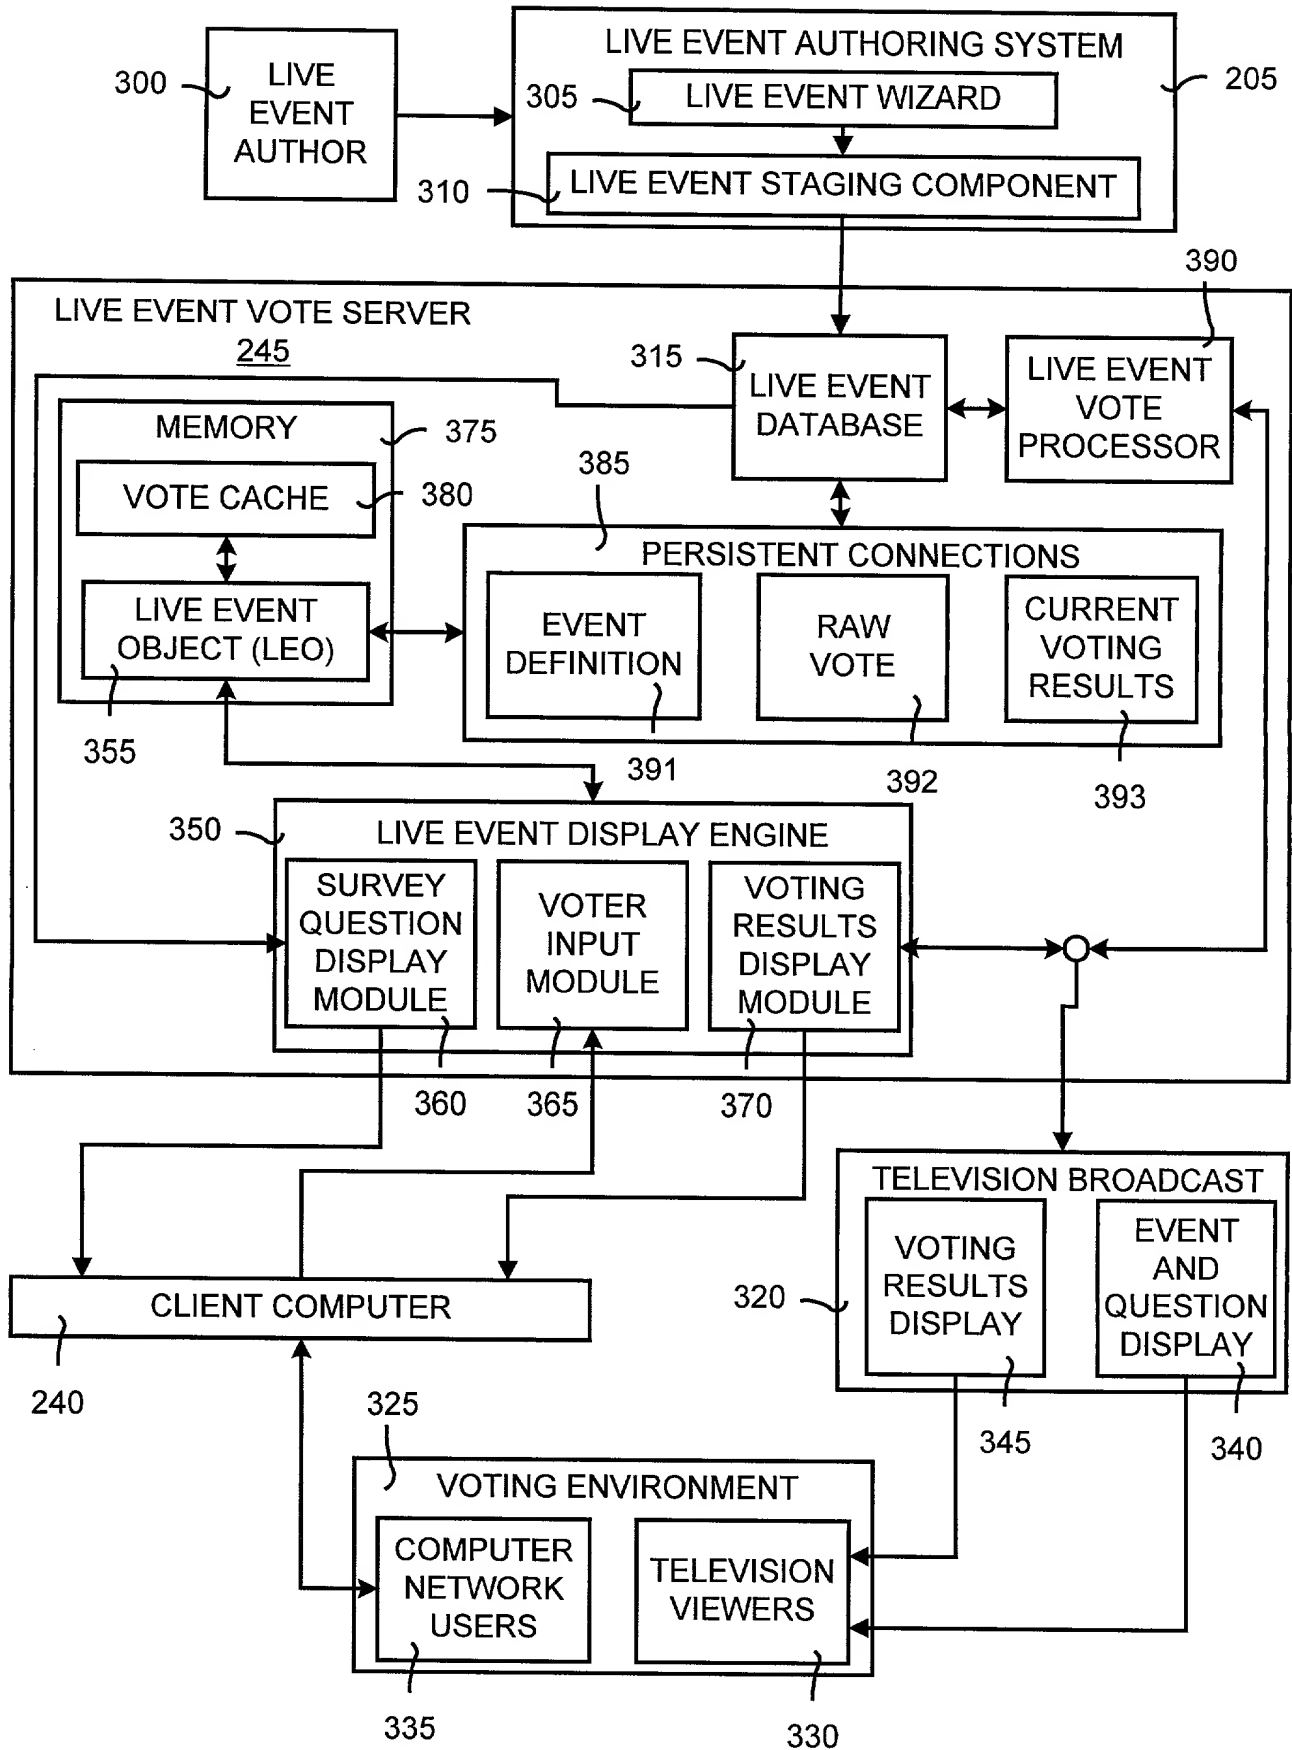

FIG. 3

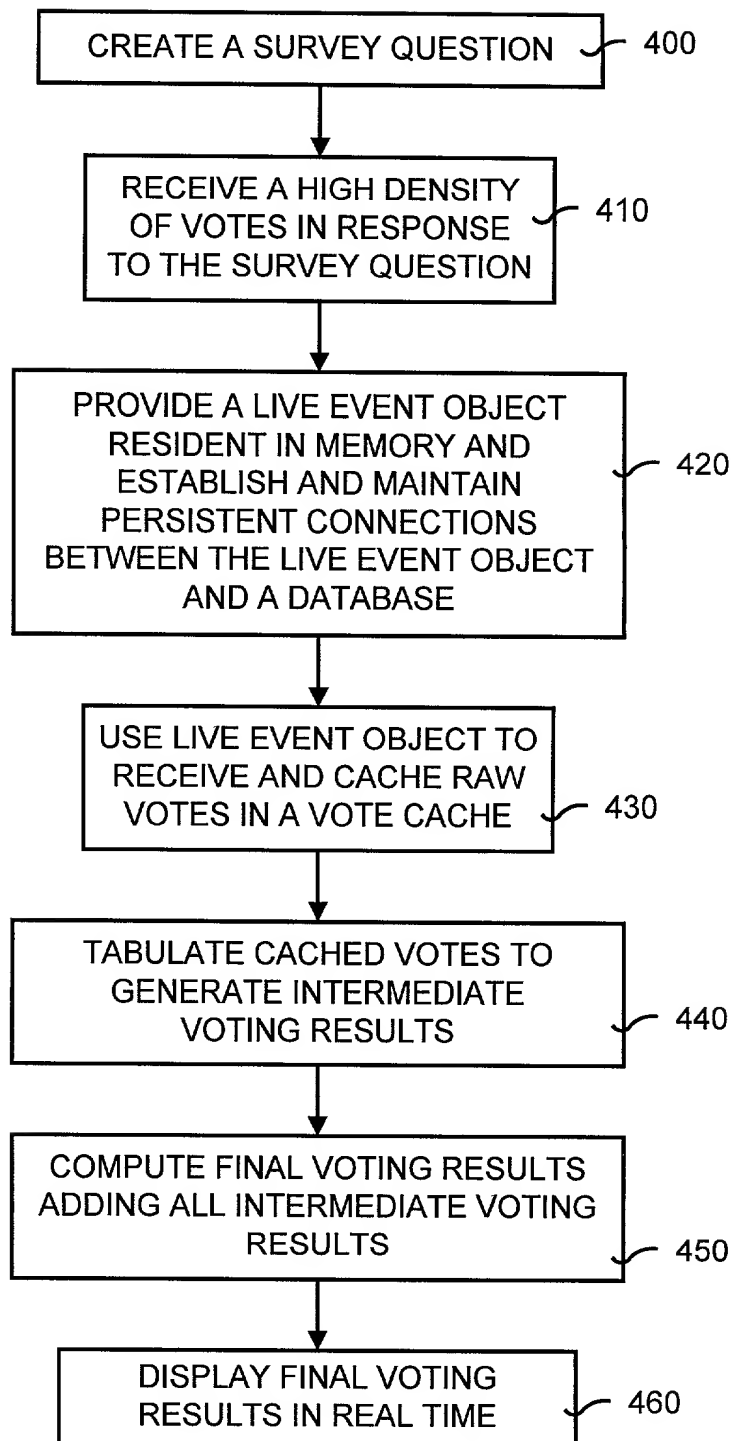

FIG. 4

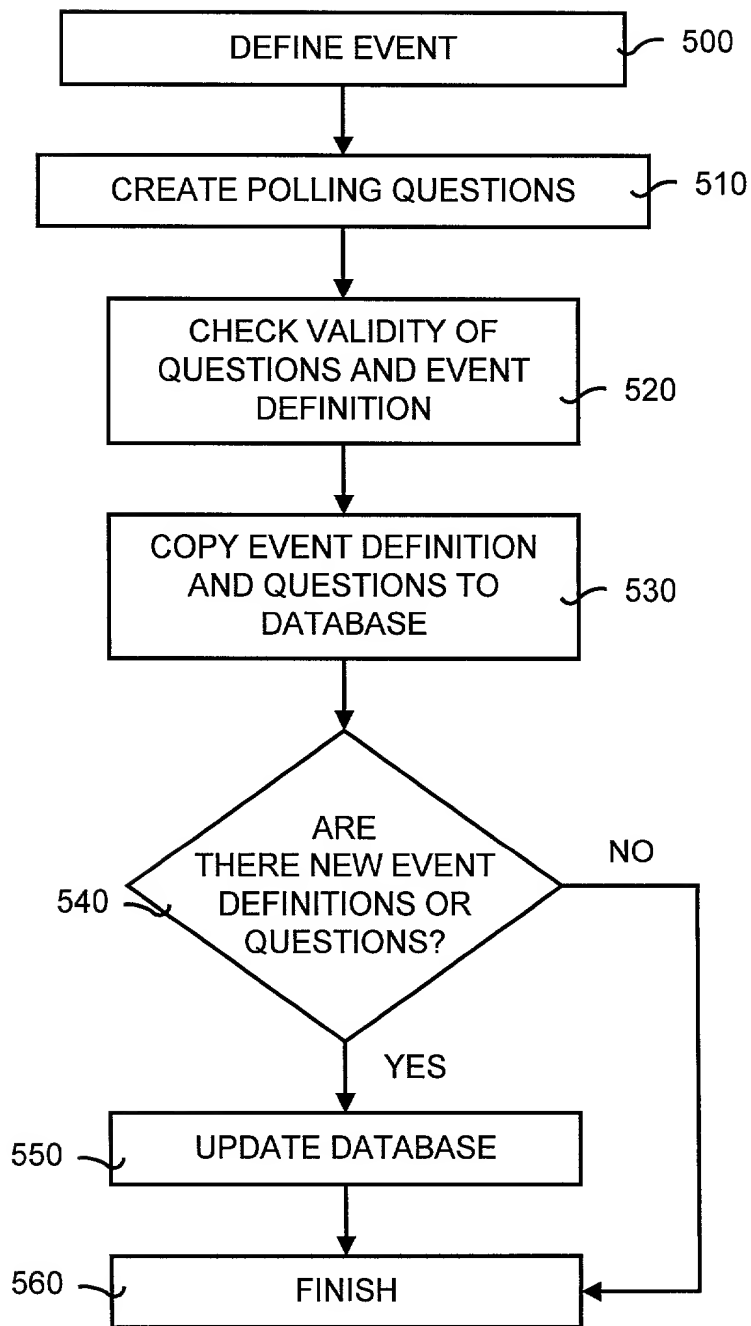

FIG. 5